January 29, 2019

Dear Steel Valley Families,

Due to the forecast of low temperatures and extreme wind chills, I have decided to cancel school for students on Wednesday and Thursday (January 30 and 31, 2019). I certainly realize that not having school puts a serious burden on families with working parents/guardians, however we need to keep in mind that many of our students walk to and from school. I have chosen to cancel both days at this time so our families know exactly what arrangements they need to make this week.

After school and evening activities will take place today, but all games and activities for Wednesday and Thursday are cancelled.

While we all recently experienced the snowstorm that was predicted to dump eight to twelve inches, which was changed to four to eight inches, and then perhaps two inches actually fell, this polar vortex appears to have a higher level of certainty.

At this time, we expect to resume school on Friday, February 1, 2019.

Please stay warm and safe over the next two days.

Sincerely,

Edward Wehrer
Superintendent
