

Hi boys and girls! I miss you all a lot, and it was really nice seeing many of you at the iPad Distribution this week.

Good job on your Flexible Instruction Day packets! Next week you'll be getting started with work on Google Classroom. It might be a little confusing at first, but don't worry! We will work through any problems and you'll get used to it in no time.

Please let your parents know that there's no specific time of the day that you have to be online – we understand everyone's schedule is different.

Don't get stressed out about the work next week – just try your best and you'll be fine.

Have a nice weekend boys and girls!
