

Wait until Labor Day

I totally agree with last week's comment about schools starting early. In my day, the west-suburban grade school started the day after Labor Day. I remember going to the drag races at Union Grove Wisconsin that weekend every year, and that was the end of summer event for me. Starting school mid-August is just insane. End school early June, start back up day after Labor Day.