

District 99 seeking application for community advisory council

DOWNERS GROVE – Community Unit School District 99 is looking for residents to join a new community advisory council to foster stronger connections between the school district and community, according to a news release from the district.

The council will be led by district Superintendent Hank Thiele and will include parents and other community members who are interested in receiving and sharing information about the district.

The council is planned to meet four times throughout the school year for a structured two-hour meeting, starting Nov. 16, including an update from the superintendent, a presentation from district administration on a timely topic, exploration of the topic through a directed activity and time to share feedback and concerns.
