Interviewed by: Blue M. Balcita

Jacqueline (Jacq) Tardif is best noted by her professors as being an exceptional student with an insatiable curiosity. She is an Environmental Studies major at Feather River College. Jacqueline is a PTK inductee due to her high GPA and she has received several awards related to environmental matters. Jacqueline first came to FRC in 2015 and is reaching her third-year of academic excellence. During her time at FRC, Jacqueline has been a mentor to her peers by reaching out to students who are shy, struggling, or non-traditional and helping them to feel accepted into the Golden Eagle family.

In her spare-time, Jacqueline is a part of Quircus and an avid yoga practitioner. The Quircus is a Quincy Community Circus and a place for creative people to learn, teach, or participate in a variety of performances and community events. She also enjoys going on adventures with her fiancé.

When asked what advice she had for first year students, Jacqueline urged students to find their passions in life and stick with them. Jacqueline came to FRC and was awed by all of what she was learning in classes taught by Dr. Darla DeRuiter and Michelle Fulton. Jacqueline is viewed as an inspiration by many of her peers due to her dedication to academics, the environment, and her compassion towards her classmates.
