

Endless Opportunities

When we were ready to expand, our first call was to Tangipahoa Parish Economic Development.

"Southland Steel has been family owned and operated since 1986 in St. Helena Parish. When we were ready to expand our company in Tangipahoa Parish by acquiring the Bradken Steel Mill in Amite to create Southland Coatings and Grid Structures, we saw endless opportunities for success.

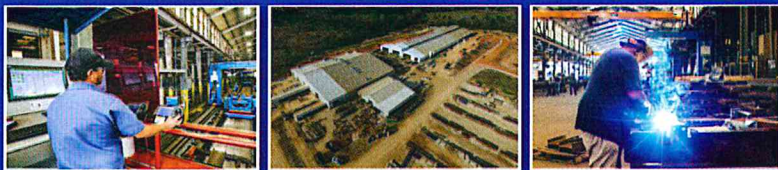

We contacted Tangipahoa Parish Economic Development Director Ginger Cangelosi. She and her team got the ball rolling. Ginger put us in contact with Louisiana Economic Development for information on tax incentives specific for manufacturing businesses and other state programs. She also reached out to the Tangipahoa Workforce Development Group Geaux Jobs and the Northshore Technical Community College who helped us connect with folks interested in joining our company.

The results were outstanding. With our latest expansion project, we are already surpassing our projected sales targets.

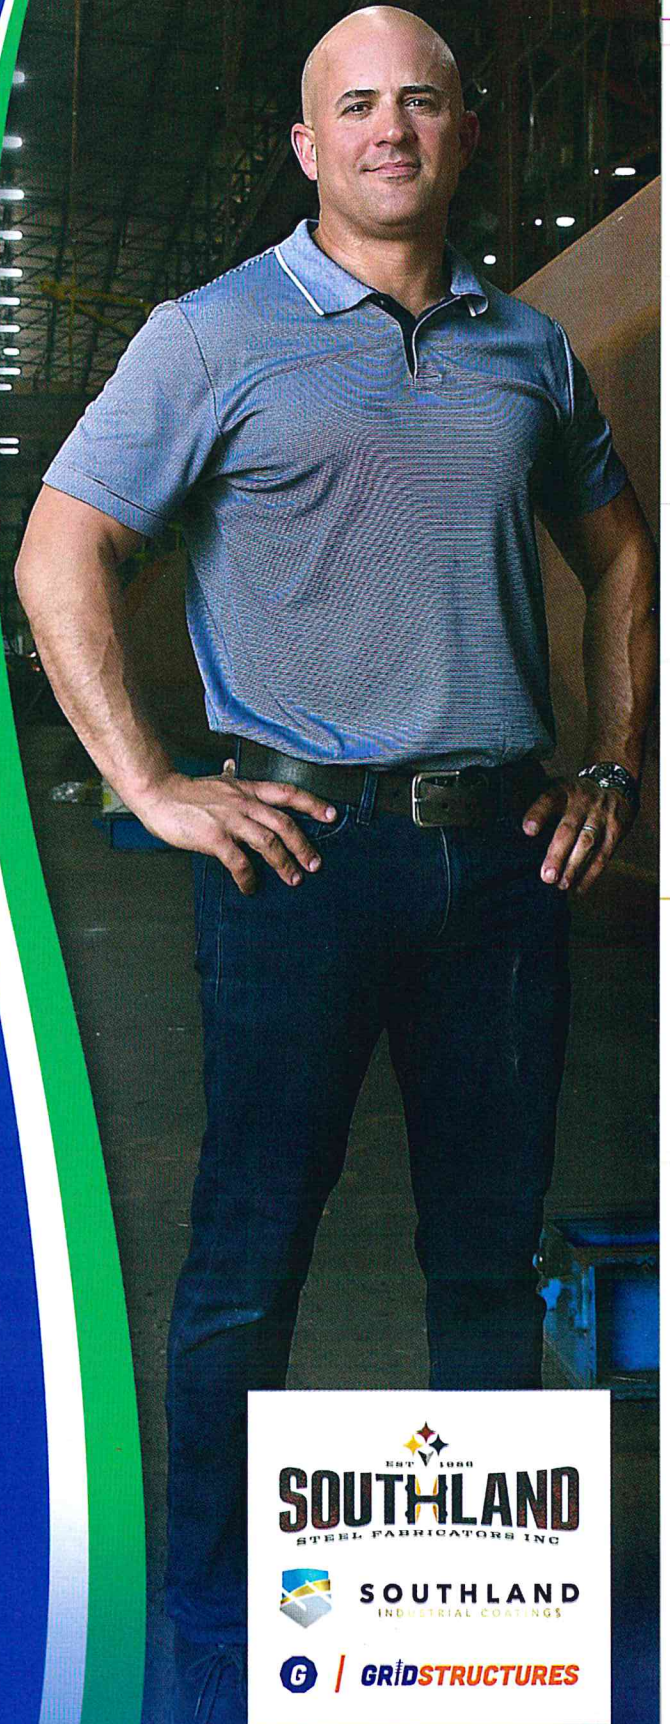

With the Economic Development Team we have in Tangipahoa Parish, we realize that there are endless opportunities for Southland Steel."
