New Connection's Academy East is an answer to the growing need for services for children identified with Autism Spectrum Disorders. These students may have a special education eligibility diagnosis of one or more of the following categories: Autism, Emotional Disability, Specific Learning Disability, Other Health Impairment, Traumatic Brain Injury, and Speech Language Impairment. A sister school to Connection's Day School, South Campus, and New Connection's academy, New Connection's Academy East serves boys and girls ages 6 to 21 placed by local school districts. New Connection's Academy East provides school, family and community partnerships leading to successful learning.

Classes are small (averaging 8-10 students) with an Illinois Licensed special education teacher and two instructional aides. All staff meets or exceeds Illinois licensure requirements. Students are grouped in age appropriate classes with no more than a four-year span in elementary/junior high classes and no more than a six-year span in the high school classes. New Connection's Academy East services elementary classrooms grades 1-3, intermediate grades 4-5, and junior high 6-8 and several high school classes for grades 9-12. The elementary and junior high classes are offered a standard curriculum of Reading/Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, and Physical Education. Each student at New Connection's Academy East has an Individualized Educational Plan (IEP) and services are provided based on the IEP that was developed by the placing district.

The High School Curriculum parallels the basic offerings of local high school districts. A variety of classes are available to meet individual student needs (as called for on the IEP) as well as graduation requirements. These high school classes are departmentalized, which provided an opportunity for the student to rotate to subject specific classrooms throughout the day.

A great deal of extra assistance is provided to help the students make progress in the general curriculum including providing breaks within the classroom, creating instruction with interwoven kinesthetic activities to provide for these children's need for movement, as well as trained staff in sensory integration techniques in order to proactively disperse the sensory activities throughout the day.

Due to the nature of the student's needs, a full continuum of related services is available including Speech Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Psychological Counseling, Art Therapy, Music Therapy, Psychiatric and Psychological Consultation, School Health Services, and post-secondary transition services. New Connection's Academy East has secured the involvement of several prominent consultants skilled in working with students diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders. A unique difference in the New Connection's Academy East program is bringing the related services into the classroom. This provides for a natural environment where the students are more able to generalize newly learned skills from the services. The art and music therapist are also able to conduct individual therapy sessions for students who express themselves better through art mediums rather than through talk therapy.

Upon enrollment, New Connection's Academy East staff assesses the student's functioning in academic, personal and interpersonal skills and provides programming that is developmentally appropriate. New Connection's Academy East staff then continue to assess progress on each student's goal on their Individualized Educational Plan (IEP) goals through a variety of methods including progress monitoring through our goal tracking system, Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) assessments, curriculum based measurements, student point sheet, classroom assignments and homework, and teacher and therapist observations. Progress reports are sent to parents on a quarterly basis with mid-term progress updated every 5 weeks.

Successful transition to a less restrictive educational environment is our ultimate goal for all New Connection's Academy East students. Individualized criteria to meet this goal will be defined for each student, as will the time-span for this process. New Connection's Academy East main programmatic outcomes are: to increase students' attendance to 90% on a monthly average, decrease the number of behavioral visits and students meet or exceed Individualized Education Plan goals as created by the team. Data collection for attendance is through student daily attendance records and is reviewed by the student's team on a weekly basis. When there is a pattern of excessive absences, or absences on the same day of every week, the team meets to determine what interventions can be implemented to assist the student in being successful in achieving the 90% monthly attendance rate. Data collection for the decrease in behavioral visits is collected through student point sheets, goal-tracker data collection system, behavioral visit reports and detention forms. The team meets on every student once every 10 weeks to review behavioral data and determine if additional interventions need to be implemented. Data collected for meeting or exceeding IEP goals is collected through a variety of resources dependent upon the goal written. Data for academic/classroom behavioral goals is collected through classroom observations, student point sheets, classroom assignments, homework assignments, student work samples, and curriculum based assessments. Data for academic/classroom behavioral goals is reviewed weekly with teachers meeting on individual students on a weekly basis. Data for social/emotional goals is collected through individual data and student role plays. Data for social/emotional goals is reviewed weekly with therapist supervisor and/or behavioral staff.

Each student has an individual therapist who sees the student once or twice per week (as delineated on the IEP) or more often if necessary and who also acts as the primary liaison to the family. Students have group therapy every day, which takes place in the classroom with an assigned therapist and high school student earn ½ credit towards their elective requirement every semester. Students are assigned to appropriate group therapies based on the recommendation of their therapist and their school district. Wide arrays of group therapist are available to meet individual student needs including social communication and emotional regulation. The school has adopted the Social Communication, Emotional Regulation and Transactional Support (SCERTS) curriculum as an organizing principle in all of its programming. The primary therapists at New Connection's Academy East also has available the resource of outside program consultants with expertise in a wide variety of issues related to child and adolescent development. Therapist routinely offer family therapy to students on their caseload. If families are interested in this service, accommodations are made into scheduling of appointments.

The Behavior Management consist of New Connection's Academy East model of the Circle of Courage. There is a behavior management point system, which provides students with clear, concrete, immediate feedback. Various privileges and rewards are contingent on the student's achievement on the behavior management system. The goal is to use the behavior management system as a transitory tool towards internalization of new behaviors and skills. The combination of a concrete behavioral management system, a challenging curriculum, and the nurturing therapeutic environment enables the students to make educational progress and become ready to move to less restrictive settings.

All staff members are trained in Nonviolent Crisis Intervention, a system of non-violent crisis intervention and de-escalation. While New Connection's Academy East does not accept students who are at imminent risk of harming themselves or others, students may occasionally become disruptive or threatening. At such times, students may be referred to our Behavior Intervention Service. This is a separate classroom with trained Behavior Intervention Specialists. Students receive help in crisis intervention, access to their therapist and additional counseling related to solving the behavioral problem and returning to class.

The school day is 8:30am to 2:30pm on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. Thursday hours are 8:30am. To 1:30pm. Students are transported to and from school by their public school district. Students are provided a well-balanced hot lunch each day. Students are met at the bus each morning by New Connection's Academy East staff and again escorted back to the bus at the end of the day.
