

GOOD NEWS WEEK ENDING January 18, 2019

High School

Students have completed their midterm exams and semester one. The new semester and the third quarter begin on January 22. Students have at least one new course for the new semester and many are excited to learn about a new subject.

Central Middle School

8th grade Spanish students just finished a week long project in coordination with our new Technology Coach, Mr. Serino. With an abundance of help and instruction from Mr. Serino students completed green screen projects using WeVideo in which they wrote, directed, performed, and then edited dialogues that used their current health and wellness vocabulary. They incorporated cultural context by using images of beaches from the Dominican Republic. Students had a lot of fun and we all (Mrs Clark included) learned a lot the last week. Thank you Mr. Serino!

Colonial Park

Students in Ms. Donovan's third grade class are becoming amazing problem solvers. During math workshop students can work together to solve complex pattern problems, rounding problems, and challenge addition problems. One group even explored the rules and reasons for products and sums being odd or even.

In P.E. classes, kindergarten students are learning how to use the scooter board. It takes a lot of coordination, balance and leg strength, but they are starting motor around the gym!

Robin Hood

Robin Hood School is fortunate to welcome Mrs. Ann Nelson to our staff as our newest Title 1 Interventionist. Mrs. Nelson retired from her role as a classroom teacher at Robin Hood in 2016 after over 30 years. She is collaborating with classroom teachers to offer additional math support to students in grades 1-3. We are so excited to have her back and are certain her expertise and the individualized support she will be able to provide will be very beneficial to our students!

Our kindergarteners are our newest students to enjoy our daily Song of the Week during the last five minutes of lunch! The Song of the Week signals students to quiet down and get ready to line up for recess, and students in grades 1-4 are able to offer suggestions in our Song of the Week box. We are happy to include kindergarten students in the Song of the Week and have discovered that they are some of our very best "silent dancers!"

South School

Students that were "Caught being..." last week were: Jack, Zoe, Lucy, Mia, Meerab, and Christopher.

On Wednesday, our first graders enjoyed the Eyes on Owls presentation. Thank you to the PTO for making this happen. The students had a great time and learned a lot!

We started a before school Writing Club here at the South for our 3rd and 4th graders. The students are meeting on Tuesday's and Thursday's in the computer lab to continue typing some of the great writing that they are working on in class. The club is led by our new Title I tutor, Ms. Green, but many of our staff members have joined in to help out!
