Long-Term Facility Planning Process

Mr. Altenburg and Mr. Prale are the administrative liaisons to Legat on this project. On September 24, 2015, the Board of Education discussed with administration its goals for the long-term facility planning process. At that time, the following four BOE goals provided direction to administration to 1) propose a plan for the building space recaptured by the relocation of the swimming pools to another structure, 2) confirm and accommodate increasing student enrollment, 3) upgrade the overall learning environment, accounting for highest yield learning technologies and practices, and 4) keep the total scope of the projects at or below $20 million dollars. Projects would proceed during a one- to five-year timeframe, preparing the District for the next projects over the following five years. The process would identify project costs and sequences and consider how to frame projects in smaller elements or to tackle them simultaneously. The whole Board of Education is receiving this report at this time because it had previously received it. The District and Legat are being fiscally conservation with the District funds, noting that while the cost is listed as not to exceed “X,” it is anticipated that the cost may be less. This is for five years of planning.

Ms. Randall’s specialty is to lead these types of projects, i.e., help to set goals, create a calendar, etc. Mr. Altenburg and Mr. Prale plan to bring a rendering forward in the April timeline.

Discussion ensued about the committee composition and schedule. The first meeting is scheduled for December 3. The composition of the committee will include 2 Board of Education members, 2 students, 3 faculty, 2 division heads, the Buildings and Grounds Director, and others. The committee wants perspectives of different groups.

Caution was given not to create a vision that is not grounded in the Strategic Plan. While this is 5 years of planning, the effect will last 20 to 40 years. While the Board of Education had given general parameters of $20 million as noted in the planning memo, as that was consistent with the debt capacity, given that the prior estimate given two years ago was $50 million, it should be treated as a firm guideline. That plan focused on utilization, shared space, adult- or teacher-oriented space and students, room sizes, square feet, etc. The charge of this committee will be to 1) recapture pool space in the field house, 2) upgrade the overall learning environment, 3) keeping the total scope at or below $20 million and 4) preparing for the next 6 to 10 years. One member suggested reflecting on the process that was used to develop the previous plan because it had not made sense educationally. Legat is taking its guidance from Mr. Prale and Mr. Altenburg. The previous plan focused on transforming the school. This time, it will be about the four areas described earlier. Legat’s role will be the “guides on the sides;” it is the facilitator of the community, the leadership, and the long-ranging planning group. The vision process is specific to the facilities.

The subsequent five-year plan should include consideration of the Fieldhouse, although structurally sound now, because of increased enrollment and an inadequate wrestling room. The District earmarks $4 million per year for capital items, and that $4 million could be channeled into longer-term projects. Also, a decennial review will be completed soon. Mr. Zummallen has been very proactive in keeping the building maintained. In December, construction will be brought forward for 2016-17 school year.

Legat is presently working on 3 master plans: 1) LaSalle ($95M referendum in a high school district); 2) quad cities elementary school, a school district in New Lenox; and 3) Glenbard (Mr. Altenburg attested to the work being done in Glenbard). In addition, Ms. Randall is consulting on 2 projects outside of Cleveland, specifically on how to move forward.

All roll call vote resulted in all ayes. Motion carried.

IGOV Assembly
Dr. Gevinson reported on the October 29 I-GOV meeting. The third assembly of the taxing bodies is scheduled for January 23. The topics will include taxing bodies’ revenue, expenditures, community data snapshot, debt, etc. Everyone is encouraged to participate. The Board of Education must have a quorum in order to take part in this assembly or designate a committee if only 3 members participate.

The high school will take part in a committee about building an Oak Park community center.

It was the consensus of the Board of Education to include a line item in its budget of $2,000 to pay for secretarial expense for I-GOV.

Parent Teacher Advisory
The Parent Teacher Advisory Committee (PTAC) is a Board of Education committee that is to be convened every year to discuss student discipline. Students who participated in the student-led retreat sponsored by Chicago VOYCE called “Raise Your Voice” will provide a full report to the Board of Education in December. This year, its charge will be to have a different level of engagement, i.e., the transformation of student climate and student discipline, etc., and charged to make recommendations to the Board of Education regarding the Code of Conduct and to develop recommendations relative to Restorative Justice, aligning it directly with the Strategic Plan. Ms. Spivy, Mr. Weissglass, Mr. Ruhl, Mr. Rouse, Dr. Isoye and Cathy Gustafson, have met. Ms. Gustafson will help run some of the meetings and guide the process. The timeline is to convene for 18 months, starting in December. This will be a huge time commitment for the members. The scope of the committees will mirror those of the Pool Site Committee and the Finance Advisory Committee in order to make sure that all of the voices, internally and externally, were being heard.

Dr. Isoye read Ms. Gustafson’s biography, highlighting her work as an independent consultant who works for schools regarding organizational change, coaching, facilitation, conflict resolution, standard-led learning assessments, and racial equity work. Her charge will be to build consensus from the group.

In addition, the school is talking with John Diamond and Amanda E. Lewis, authors of the book Despite the Best Intentions, about working with a group larger than PTAC, to see if they could facilitate a different type of conversation.

Dr. Isoye is also talking with Decoteau Irby, UIC Department of Education Policy Studies Working and working with Verona Public Schools just outside of Madison about the research he has been doing for the last three years.

Discussion ensued about the composition of the PTAC membership. Suggestions included:
1) Include someone who has successfully implemented Restorative Justice practices at both in the planning stage of this committee and participated in the actual committee.
2) Provide an educational component so that the committee members understand Restorative Justice. Note: the District will reach out to Dominican University, as it has been doing work in this area. Find someone from a District, who is doing this successfully.
3) Students both in the planning process and on the committee, i.e., students who participate in Chicago VOYCE, mentors, etc.
4) Student Intervention Directors because of their knowledge of the discipline.
5) Faculty Senate selects its members to be on this committee.
6) A couple of Board members. The role of the BOE members would be to provide input, engage in the conversation but not to vote. These are open meetings, and other Board of Education members could attend if they so choose. This would allow those on the committee to preserve and participate in the evolutionary process of what is being developed. Board member presence would not affect the majority.

The desired size of this committee would be 11 to 15 members. The question was asked if other recommendations were needed before a decision was made. One member asked who would make the decision on the membership and how would they be seen and who would decide that. In addition to a facilitator, a suggestion was made to appoint a chair to administer and manage the work.
Discussion ensued about whether the BOE should make a commitment to Restorative Justice practices and a timeline. A Board goal states that it will develop actions and practices and, thus, it is charging PTAC to make the recommendations on how to move forward.

A retreat on Restorative Justice for the BOE was requested. In addition, one or two sessions of PTAC, depending upon the agenda, might be helpful for the entire Board of Education to attend.

School Report Card
Continued discussion will occur at the December Instruction Committee meeting regard ACT scores and college readiness.

CTIP Update
The Instruction Committee unanimously recommended that the update on the Classroom Technology Implementation Plan is forwarded to the full Board of Education and was included in the packet.

District Reports
Monthly reports from the embedded into the agenda from PTO/Parents 4 Student Success, Huskies Booster’s Club, and APPLE.

Adjournment
At 9:20 p.m., Dr. Moore moved to adjourn the regular Board of Education meeting; seconded by Mr. Cofsky. A voice vote resulted in motion carried.
