

LOUISIANA DELTA
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Title: Disruptive Student

Document Number: AA_205

Effective Date:

Revised Date: 9/30/2013

Department: Student Services

Purpose

Inappropriate student behavior in the classroom has the potential to disrupt the teaching and learning process. In such a situation, the faculty member should attempt to regain order and prevent further disruption. The Institution expects that students will behave in a manner acceptable in a learning environment that does not endanger or infringe on the rights and safety of the student or others.

Scope

Entire College community.

Policy

Resolution should take place at the lowest level possible and as soon as possible following the incident. Inclusion of the involved faculty and student, appropriate academic supervisor and [if necessary] academic and student services administrators will assist in ensuring that the interests and needs of all parties are considered. A detailed explanation of student code of conduct issues may be found in the Delta Student Handbook.

Disruptive Student

Procedures

1. Strategies are presented based on the level of disruption and should help to minimize disruption and maximize safety in the classroom.
2. If classroom misconduct warrants an immediate suspension for the remainder of the class period, the faculty member may do so to address the immediacy of a given situation. If the student does not leave voluntarily, campus public safety personnel may intervene upon verbal request by the faculty member. Within one workday, the faculty member shall provide written notice of the dismissal to the respective academic supervisor and to the Deans of Instruction and Student Services. The Academic Supervisor shall inform the Dean of Instruction of the incident and its progress.

3. If further action is warranted, the faculty member shall consult with the respective Academic Supervisor who may elect to:
  - a. Request that the faculty member and student meet with the Academic Supervisor to seek resolution.
  - b. Meet with the student, faculty member, and Academic Supervisor to explore and adopt non-disciplinary solutions, including guidelines for retaining the student in the course.
  - c. Meet with the student, faculty member and Academic Supervisor to make a written determination of the facts and take further disciplinary action (Academic Misconduct Form to be completed)
  - d. Take no further action.
4. Detailed procedures and sanctions for violation of classroom policy are found in the Delta Student Handbook concerning the Student Code of Conduct.

The following strategies are suggested to minimize disruption and maximize safety for all concerned:

Mild Disruption

- a. As politely and privately as possible, request that the student refrain from the disruptive behavior. The goal is to eliminate inappropriate behavior without embarrassing or demeaning the student.
- b. Should the inappropriate behavior continue, invite the student to speak with you for a moment outside of the classroom.
- c. Privately and briefly convey to the student that the behavior is disruptive and unacceptable. Share your desire to see the student succeed in class and your intention that the matter be resolved. If follow-up discussion is needed, establish a time and place to meet, and either dismiss the student for the remainder of the class or allow them to return for the remainder of the class.

Emotional Distress

- a. If the student is visibly upset during class and disturbing others, discreetly take them to the hallway or a private place. Discuss whether the student feels a need to leave or return to class. If the behavior did not disturb the class but was obvious, speak with the student after class noting your concern.
- b. Recommend that the student consider talking with someone, either through the Student Services counseling staff or outside the College.
- c. Forward your concerns about the student to the Student Services counseling office along with any relevant information while striving to maintain the appropriate balance between confidentiality and student safety.

Potentially Dangerous or Violent Behavior

- a. Dismiss the class immediately. Do not wait for the student to regain control.

- b. If you are not in immediate danger and the student is communicating rationally, determine the nature of the difficulty and suggest a referral to an outside agency through Student Services. Notify the Student Services office of possible referral as soon as possible.
- c. If the student remains out of control, request a student leaving the class to call campus public safety personnel and have them come to the classroom. Attempt to calm the student if you believe that you can be of assistance. If you sense a threat to your own personal safety, however, leave the classroom immediately.
- d. If the student leaves the classroom before the arrival of campus public safety personnel, try to observe their destination (parking lot, another building, etc.)
- e. Report the incident as soon as possible to the Deans of Instruction and Student Services and the appropriate academic supervisor.

General Considerations

- a. If any disruptive incident occurs in the classroom, write down as soon as possible all the elements you can recall for future reference. Notify the appropriate Academic Supervisor.
- b. If you anticipate potential student-to-student confrontations (such as in a course that may involve sharing and discussing strong personal beliefs), provide your expectations early in the course and on the syllabus (no arguing, use of respectful language, etc.)
- c. Early intervention for inappropriate behavior usually sets the standard and helps prevent further problems.
