Our page editor software also makes recommendations for those adding content to increase accessibility, such as adding captions/alt+text for images, and we offer accessibility webinars with our Client Success Manager to share best practices within our system.
- We recommend our schools to publish their "Accessibility Statement" on their websites to communicate their approach and commitment to accessibility to their communities. In addition, schools are required to provide their communities an easy way to submit complaints about the accessibility of a certain page, document, or section on their website that they have difficulty accessing. Upon request, our team provides an Accessibility Statement template to the schools that they are free to use as is, or to use after modifying based on their own approach. Our team also creates online complaint forms for users who experience problems with certain pages or sections on their school's website, and provides assistance in addressing such complaints.
- Website accessibility requires an ongoing effort. There is always the possibility that a single page or file on the website needs correction. Upon request, our team performs accessibility evaluations on individual school websites. Any necessary corrections are made by our team, free of charge to the school, and recommendations are provided to maintain a high level of website accessibility moving forward.
