These are absolutely normal questions to be asking yourself! Choosing a career path can be a VERY difficult decision.

The College and Career Resource Center (CCRC) is available to both students AND parents to assist in preparing students for life beyond high school.

Inside the CCRC are a variety of informational resources for careers, military, college, and vocational schools, as well as information on testing, scholarships and occupations. There are computers for the students to use for research or completing college applications. All of these resources can help determine what type of career/occupation is of interest and then the steps needed to reach that goal. i.e. – what type of college, specialty school, trade school or training option would need to be completed.

Of course, your Guidance Counselor is always available to you for much more comprehensive assistance!
