Our second presenter in our new Advent Video Reflection series is Catherine Crone, a sixth grade student at St. James. Watch at https://bit.ly/2Q6DBE2 as Catherine shares her perspective on today’s readings. We hope her insight will serve as a springboard for your reflections on the Word in relation to the Christmas season.

Throughout this December as we celebrate the season of Advent, and look with joyous hearts to the commemoration of the birth of our Lord, we will be highlighting our brand new Advent reflection video series. Each short video, presented by a student from St. James Catholic School, discusses that particular Sunday’s readings. We hope that these videos along with their corresponding “Light Your Heart” reflection questions, on page six, will add insight and support for your faith journey during this holy time of year.

Reflection  It’s always easier to take a straight road to home or to a friend’s house. We should follow a straight road to Jesus too. What road will you follow?
Stewardship: Year End Giving Opportunities

“Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths. Every valley shall be filled and every mountain and hill shall be made low. The winding roads shall be made straight, and the rough ways made smooth, and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.”

Luke 3:4-6

My siblings are much older than me, eleven and six years respectively. I remember as a young child attending a play at Bishop O’Connell while my brother was a student. It was “Godspell,” and I can’t remember why we were there except perhaps it was because he was a photographer for the yearbook. The one thing that stays in my mind is the song, “Prepare Ye.” The auditorium was quiet, dark, and all of a sudden from the back came this loud, strong voice singing, “Prepare ye, the way of the Lord!” It certainly shook me awake as I am certain I had fallen asleep. The only lyric is its title, repeated over and again, each time with increasing excitement. What was captivating to a young child resonates in my adult mind: the actor who portrayed John striding confidently to the stage joined by other cast members in anticipation. The Savoir is near.

Everyone in the audience that night turned at the sound of the actor’s voice. All were amazed; all focused on him as he led the other cast members to the stage. We were compelled to pay attention.

Parishioners, friends and even fellow priests and religious tell me how easy it is to get sidetracked during Advent. The press of to-do lists, the call of gatherings, last-minute details and responsibilities all conspire to distract us. Who, or what is the voice of John the Baptist for us? What (or who) helps us keep our spiritual life centered and focused on Christ our Savior? I hope that the grace found in the celebration of the Eucharist is one way; reading Scripture is another way. Even taking time to just… be… to be silent… to be with the Lord as a friend can awaken our souls and “make straight our paths.”

I hope you enjoy our reflection for the Second Week of Advent, given by sixth grader, Catherine Crone. Prepare not just your homes, but your hearts with the words of our God.

~ Fr. Posey

Reflection for the Second Week of Advent

We continue with our special collection of Advent reflections this week looking at the various roads we can take in life to find Jesus Christ. We hope you are enjoying this special series of longer reflection questions coupled to the student presented reflection videos, and that they are helping you spiritually prepare for the Nativity of our Lord.

Readings: Baruch 5:1-9; Psalm 126:1-2, 2-3, 4-5, 6; Philippians 1:4-6, 8-11; Luke 3:1-6

Holy Days of Obligation — Know Your Church

Ever wonder why we celebrate Holy Days of Obligation and why they are so important to us as Catholics? Do you wonder what days are Holy Days and which days aren’t, and why a Holy Day mandates obligatory attendance at Mass one year but not necessarily the next?

ADVENT 2018

Last Sunday, December 2, the First Sunday of Advent, marked the beginning of the Church year.

In the first words of his Gospel, Luke promises a faithful account, based on the evidence of eyewitnesses and ministers of the Word. Luke keeps that promise, providing certainty about the teachings his readers have seen and heard. We too can join those early believers, proclaiming during this year what we have seen and heard. We will sharpen our senses on the whetstone of the Gospel so that we can see and hear Jesus in our midst today, as He reveals himself in ordinary men and women, and in the events of our daily lives.

IN ADVENT, four Old Testament prophets—Jeremiah, Baruch, Zephaniah and Micah—join with Luke to tell us what they have seen and heard: the ancient promise of a savior nears fulfillment, first in Bethlehem, and then to the ends of the earth and the end of time. The Advent scriptures call us to repentance and to vigilance—to alertness and sensitivity so that we will see and hear the Lord in His coming.

The Advent psalms and Paul’s Advent letters repeat the refrain: The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

During the last weekdays of Advent, the Church calls forth those familiar and moving words from Matthew’s and Luke’s infancy accounts. This is what we have been waiting for: the genealogy of Jesus from Abraham to Joseph and Mary. The announcements to Joseph and to Zechariah. Gabriel’s announcement to Mary and her going to Elizabeth. Mary’s Magnificat. Zechariah’s canticle of praise.

AT CHRISTMAS, angels, shepherds and kings—an unlikely chorus—tell us what they have seen and heard:

A Savior has been born to you!

Donut Sunday and Work of Human Hands Sale — December 16

The Social Outreach Committee invites everyone to its Donut Sunday and Work of Human Hands Sale, Sunday, December 16, from 8:30am to Noon in Heller Hall—Door 13. Be sure to stop by after Masses to avail yourself of delicious donuts and coffee. Come for the food, stay for the Work of Human Hands Sale. The sale will feature Divine Chocolate, fair trade coffee, and other fair trade items that support artisans and farmers worldwide. There will also be a craft table for children interested in making Christmas tree ornaments! Please be sure to attend.
