Quick note on Homework (Online links at end)

Middle School homework, especially mathematics homework, can prove to be a significant challenge. The following is an excerpt from "A Parent handbook for Mathematics" available from www.cde.ca.gov. As a parent, you may not feel prepared to help with mathematics, especially as children get older and the mathematics becomes more complex. If so, you may be pleased to learn that you do not have to be an expert to help with your children's homework! Providing a well-lighted table and comfortable chair is an important place to start. The best location for homework is not necessarily your son's or daughter's bedroom . If your child studies at the kitchen or dining room table instead, you can help without having to sit down the entire time.
