PUBLIC COMMENT
Bill Dawson, an Oak Park resident and the parent of two children, expressed concern about the asbestos abatement planned at Mann School during the summer, as his children will be attending the summer program there. He spoke to Norm Land and Therese O’Neill about his concern. After talking to them, he noted that he was not feeling any better about the process and the safety of his children. Dawson expressed concern that Lane is not clear on the scope of the work, and the number of children who will be accessing the building. He explained that the staff is not aware of the scope of the work and have not begun packing up their classrooms. Ms. O’Neill was going to speak to the principal today and get back to him, and he decided that since the Board was meeting this evening, he would express his concern directly to them.

Jim McConachie, a resident of Burr Ridge, IL, reported that he dropped off documents regarding violations performed by Kenneth Company in regard to the Prevailing Wage Rates, and expressed his concern to the Board.

SPECIAL REPORTS
ELEMENTARY WORLD LANGUAGE – TECHNOLOGY OPTION
Lisa Schwartz and Dawn Deaton came to the table. Schwartz reported on the current World Language (FLES) program model. She noted that Kindergarten – second grades meet three times a week; 30 minutes each for a total of 90 minutes, and grades three - five meet two times a week for 30 minutes each, for a total of 60 minutes.
They noted that the FLES teachers and families have seen changes in second language acquisition with the additional hour added in Kindergarten – second grades. They reported that Dr. Roberts charged the team to find a way to add time (touches) for grades three through five; using technology if possible and without adding staff.

Rosetta Stone was shared as the recommended program. It was noted that it is the market leader and a very strong option. Deaton shared that she uses the product personally and finds it to be easy to use and motivating. Rosetta Stone allows for independent study, access to studying with it during the day and at home, individual instruction according to each learner’s pace, tools that measure student’s progress and for parents to be informed of their child’s progress. The ladies reported that Rosetta Stone is a good match to the current program being used.

They suggested that Rosetta Stone be used in third through fifth grades as a bell ringer, a center activity, and before and after school activities. At home, the program could be used for daily homework (15 minutes) and during the summer. Additionally, the program has a teacher manager tool to monitor student progress. Deaton suggested that this product could also be used as an activity for a non-speaking substitute. Additionally, Deaton noted that the program could be used by staff members to help them acquire new skills. She suggested consideration of possible fee-based parent subscriptions.

Deaton noted that Rosetta Stone could be used as a support for ELL students, as it offers a dual language license to support ELL instruction. Other school districts reported a 57.3 percent increase in ELL scores on ACCESS. She noted that the top 10 percent of learners improved ACCESS scores by more than 200 percent.

Schwartz reported that the cost of a three year site license for 2,000 users would be $131,988 (a discount of $32,000); which come out to $21.99 per student, per year.

Dr. Roberts reported that Lincoln School, which houses the Spanish Immersion Program, is in the process of being assessed. The process will be completed by the middle of the 2014-15 school year.

Board comments included noting that the license cost is less than a text book. Interest was expressed in knowing how the success of the program will be assessed, and that the students are using the program consistently. Interest was expressed in how this would be paid for.

It was suggested that Rosetta Stone would be a great option for students who need support but do not qualify for ELL. It was suggested that the district reach out to the PTOs or the Ed Foundation for partnerships in before, after and lunch time programs. Interest was expressed in ways to limit summer loss. It was suggested that the district also consider offering this to the sixth through eighth grade students. It was suggested that the Board reach out to Comcast regarding Wi-Fi for families that cannot afford the service.

ELEMENTARY MATH MATERIALS PRESENTATION
Jean L’Heureux, a fifth grade teacher at Hatch, and Lisa Schwartz updated the Board on the current math textbook status. Schwartz recommended postponing the adoption of a new math curriculum for one year, noting that there is currently a limited selection of math textbooks that have been completely redesigned after the release of the Common Core Standards, and more time is required to do a full textbook evaluation. Schwartz introduced the concept of a consumable option for one year to fill the need for math materials while the committee continues to review permanent options.
ELEMENTARY MATH MATERIALS PRESENTATION (Continued)

She reported that My Math is a traditional program similar to Everyday Math. The teacher manuals are clear and concise; the program includes differentiated resources for support and enrichment, and supplemental resources for instruction (videos, student, and tutorials) are included. The student materials allow for content and practice using pre-tests and post-tests. She reported that My Math includes parent communication tools, and an electronic textbook that is fully functional on the iPad. She noted that homework would be completely digital and that home Wi-Fi is not required. Schwartz recommended that the Board approve the purchase of the following materials:

- K-2 - paper based at $35,568 ($18.72 per student)
- 3-5 - $31,800 ($15.90 per student)
- K-5 - Manipulative (as needs) $20,000
- Total - $87,369

Schwartz noted that after Board approval, the teachers will be granted online access to the teacher/student materials, and to the online webinars. During the months of June and July, a team of teachers will review the 2013-14 resources, looking for materials that will compliment the My Math program. The materials will be delivered to the buildings in mid July, and professional development will be offered to Kindergarten through fifth grade teachers during the August institute days.

Future recommendations include the need for a committee to continue review of math materials, collect feedback on My Math materials, and continue to focus on professional development for math content and practices. Several teachers will be sent to UIC for training this summer, and will participate in the review of materials.

Board comments included support for consistency across buildings, and interest in a careful analysis of the fidelity of this textbook. Everyday Math was recommended for future consideration, as was considering a way to utilize the expertise within the community. This item will return to the Board for action on June 24, 2014.

TECHNOLOGY FEES
Michael Arensdorff came to the table. He shared an overview of the technology fees for this year and recommended charging $20 per student for the 2014-15 school year. He explained that the goal is to keep the fees as low as possible for families. The proposed fee is 20 percent less than anticipated back in February. He explained that the goal was to insure that the district has enough coverage, but to not have a large amount of funds remaining at the end of the school year.

Board comments included interest in the ability to pay the fee online. This item will return to the Board for action on June 24, 2014.

O’Neill came to the table. She updated the Board on the process of seeking bids for the Brooks and Julian Landscaping project. She noted that the recommendation is to award the bid to the Kenneth Company. In response to a letter that was sent to the Board indicating that Kenneth Company was not in compliance with the Prevailing Wage laws, O’Neill shared the following update. Four of the complaints were in 2005 and one in 2010. She reported that she reached out to Altamanu regarding the complaints. She checked the list of references and Altamanu contacted vendors listed. O’Neill discussed the concern with the village which indicated that Kenneth Company is their vendor of choice. She assured the Board that references indicated that there were no current issues with the company or Prevailing Wage. She reported that payrolls will need to be attached to bills as they are submitted for payment, and will be reviewed for compliance.

Additionally, O’Neill reported that the cost of the work has changed. She attributed the change to the timeliness of the bid process, to the fact that this is a relatively small project, and that the cost of sub contractors has increased.
