Publication or Creation of Materials/Copyrights and Patents

Except as may be otherwise stipulated by the Superintendent or designee, all books, materials, devices, computer software, or products which result from the regular prescribed duties of persons employed by the School District shall remain the property of the School District, and the School District shall retain all rights and privileges pertaining to the ownership thereof. However, the Board of Education encourages employee creativity and productivity where appropriate, and to make it possible for creative people to share in possible rewards for their efforts, so in the event any of these products has commercial appeal, the Superintendent is authorized to negotiate with the appropriate entities.

If a product which is satisfactory for the purposes of the School District was derived in part from work done by an employee outside of his/her school duties, or needs to have additional work performed on it before it is commercially acceptable, the Superintendent is authorized to make arrangements to enter into a reasonable financial arrangement and/or accommodation with the employee, provided no School District funds, whether tax funds or funds from other sources shall be used to remunerate the person for this additional work.
