Summer Reading 2020: "Imagine Your Story"

We are excited you signed up for our Summer Reading Program using Beanstack! You can keep track of your reading progress online or via the Beanstack Tracker app. When the library reopens, you can come visit us to pick up your prizes.

Join us online for weekly virtual programs. Take a look at our schedule and sign up here: RFPL Calendar

Do you need books to read? Email childrens@rflib.org or call the library and we can put together a bag of books for you to pick up.

Your Digital Library

Hoopla

Hoopla is an e-book and audiobook collection that you can access with your library card. This one in particular offers more options as far as audiobooks go, making it perfect for summer road trips, and doesn't have any wait lists so you can access your materials right away. Simply log in with your library card and PIN and borrow up to 8 different materials a month to enjoy on your device of choice

Kanopy Kids

Kanopy Kids is a library-offered streaming service that offers access to feature films, educational videos, and TV shows without any wait lists or borrowing limits! Just create a free account with your email and log in to give your child access to thousands of kid-friendly things to watch.

Libby (Media On Demand)

This app allows you to access thousands of picture books and audiobooks right on your tablet or computer. Log in with your library card, download the story of your choice to your device, or read or listen right there in your browser!

Tumblebooks

Tumblebooks offers animated versions of some of your favorite picture books. Simply log in, choose your books without any checkouts or holds, and your child can watch their favorite stories come to life right there in your browser.

Internet Resources

Funbrain Math Arcade

This arcade style website offers a number of games that give kids a chance to flex their math muscles. They offer things for a variety of ages and you can search by grade level to make sure your kids aren't playing anything too hard or too easy for them.

IXL

IXL is a website that contains over 2000 games and lessons for kids of all grades. You can search by grade, subject, and concept and your kid is given a short series of interactive puzzles to solve relating to that concept. The site is also constantly expanding with new lessons and puzzles being added every month.

Summer Science Camp

This fun website through startwithabook.org offers a number of fun science activities to do at home. Kids can search by subjects such as "The Night Sky" or "Be An Inventor" and be linked to a number of easy experiments to do on the subject. The site also includes links to non-fiction book recommendations and apps related to each subject. If your kids enjoy this, the website has a similar format for math too!

Twinkl

A website designed to help school lessons continue at home, Twinkl has resources for every school subject you can imagine. Search by your child's grade and the subject, and Twinkl will show you what concepts they should be learning at that grade level and an assortment of activities to practice those concepts.

Reading Ideas

PLEASE NOTE

Due to the COVID-19 precautions, we are unable to place holds outside of the library.

This means that physical copies of these books may be in short supply.

If the wait list becomes too lengthy for you, we recommend borrowing from one of the above digital library resources.

You can also call or email us at the library and our librarians will happily recommend a similar book that we have on shelf.

Thank you for understanding

Charlie & Mouse

by Laurel Snyder

Two inventive young brothers share a series of wacky adventures involving conversations with lumps, a neighborhood party, a rock-selling venture and the creation of the "bedtime banana."

Dance! Dance! Underpants!

by Bob Shea

Helping Butter Bear practice for her big ballet debut, Ballet Cat urges her friend to leap and dance while Butter Bear prefers to eat, drink and take naps, revealing eventually that she is reluctant to perform because she does not want her silly underpants to show.

Duck, Duck, Porcupine!

by Salina Yoon

Big Duck likes to boss around her younger brother, Little Duck, and fancies herself the leader of their trio when their gentle friend

Porcupine joins in, but in truth, Little Duck shows, through his expressions and actions, that he has a better grasp on any situation than his older sister and ends up getting the trio out of whatever jam they happen to find themselves in.

Juana & Lucas

by Juana Medina

Juana is a little girl who lives in Colombia. Juana does not love school, and she especially hates learning English, but when a special opportunity crops up, Juana decides that maybe learning English won't be so bad.
