The Scholastic Book Fair was a huge success this year, with $9,514.78 worth of material being sold during the week. The school profit was $5,760.69 worth of books that were distributed to many of our classrooms and library. The incredible support from students, parents, retired teachers and other community members was very much appreciated. On October 25th and 26th the K8 building will be conducting their parent teacher conferences from 4-7:30 PM, this will give the parents an opportunity to discuss their child’s first quarter performance with the teachers, continuing to build a partnership with parents and the school throughout the year.
