   Jesse Bohannon moved to amend proposed policy 2240 according to Maria Mikel’s statement to be read in her absence: Controversial Issues Policy # 2240: Mr. President, I move to amend proposed policy 2240 by removing the language “on which opposing points of view have been promulgated by reasonable opinion.” Stated more clearly, “promoted by responsible opinion.” The determination of who “promotes a responsible opinion” is completely subjective, may pose a burden in proof and conflicts with the very nature of a controversial issue, in that it would have 2 camps on opposite sides of an issue.
   When something is subjective, it is less based on fact or truth and can taint the focus of the case by the mix of people involved in a case and the courtroom, e.g., so a Christian defendant wouldn’t do so well in a mostly “liberal” court. NEOLA’s 2nd option is sufficient and can stand alone. This change is allowed by NEOLA and move the proposed policy 2240 to second reading as amended.
   Todd Stuckman seconded the motion, motion failed 0-4.
